

3 Easy Ways to Pay Less for Your Meds

01 Ask your doctor about generics

If you're prescribed a medicine, always ask if there is a cheaper, generic alternative. Generics can often reduce your costs by up to 80%. Believe it or not, generic and brand-name medicines are the same thing!

02 Shop around for the best deals

Did you know prices can vary wildly from pharmacy to pharmacy? Use these resources to find the lowest prices near you:

- Start by trying GoodRx, Blink Health, or WeRx.org
- Call local pharmacies to check the price for your prescription
- Consider mail-order for recurring prescriptions

03 Ask your pharmacist

- Ask if it would be cheaper to pay cash for medicine instead of using insurance and paying the copay
- If it's cheaper to not use your insurance, remember that this cost will not count toward your deductible
- Ask if a coupon is available
- Find out if copay assistance is available
